Media Alert: Oceanology International - Register for your Oi24 press pass

Oceanology International 2024 (Oi24), ExCeL London, 12th to 14th March 2024

Press registration is now open for next year's Oceanology International.

Simply click on this link and select your chosen number of badges.

The badge entitles you to access the exhibition hall, technical sessions and show floor theatres for all 3 days of the event. It also entitles you to access the premium Catch the Next Wave Conference on day 3, Thursday 14th March (subject to seat availability).

Please note, the press registration form is for members of editorial teams only. If you work in PR, Sales or Marketing, please register as a visitor.

Oceanology International is a marine science, ocean technology exhibition and conference showcasing future technology and transformational solutions, with a focus on a sustainable blue economy.

Saltwater Stone is pleased to provide Oi24 preview content and images for your pre-event editorials and features, available here.

Additional press releases announcing exhibition and conference details will be issued in the coming months.
